

SHELF LIFE/STABILITY STUDIES MANAGEMENT

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A computer implemented method for managing a stability or shelf life study is provided. Requirements for a stage in a plurality of stages are determined and interfaces are output that define the requirements. Information may then be input for fulfilling the requirements. The input information is then validated against business rules that define logic to determine if the input information is acceptable. The input information is then stored.

60017746 v1